

UDC: 658.7

Development of the competence model graduate of university from the perspective of the employer

I.V. Reyhanova

The article deals with the problems of preparation of competitive specialists in modern terms the position of the employer, as well as the need for a competence-based approach in the learning process through the development of the graduate competence model of higher vocational institutions. Improving the quality of education and training of highly qualified specialists in the modern economy should take into account the differences between the quality of training and the requirements of the labour market that are closely connected with the problems of development of the market of educational services in conditions of economic restructuring. The author believes that the development of the competence model competitive graduate institution of higher education may include four groups of key competences, the formation of which is important to employers.

Keywords: development of the competence model, graduate and employer, group of key competences, market of educational services

References

1. Рейханова И.В. Основные направления совершенствования производства образовательных услуг высшей школы // Гуманитарные и социальные науки: электронный научный журнал. 2011. № 1.
2. Заславская Т.И. Современное российское общество: проблемы и перспективы // Общественные науки и современность. 2012. № 6.
3. Ульяницкая Н.М. Регулирование развития хозяйствующего субъекта: целеустремление, динамическая классификация, управление // Гуманитарные и социально-экономические науки. 2010. № 5.