

DOI: 10.23683/1997-2377-2019-108-5-35-38

UDC: 1

The idea of national identity in the philosophy of Slavophil Yu.F. Samarin (200 years anniversary of the Russian thinker)

A.V. Belov

The place of Yu.F. Samarin in the circle of "senior" Slavophiles and the importance of his ideas for the development of this direction of Russian philosophy; a criticism of the insolvency of the idea of the existence of a "world civilization" uniting all peoples, which requires leveling or eliminating the religious, moral and political principles of individual peoples, is shown the denial of the one-sided rationalistic approach of Western culture and religion — Catholicism and Protestantism; substantiated the idea of Yu.F. Samarina on the need for the participation of the Russian intelligentsia in the development and development of national identity.

Keywords: nationality, national identity, Slavism, Latinism, faith, priesthood, Catholicism, Protestantism, Y. Samarin

References

1. В память Ю.Ф. Самарина. Речи, произнесенные в Петербурге и в Москве по поводу его кончины. СПб., 1876.
2. Захаров Э.В. Предисловие // Самарин Ю.Ф. Православие и народность. М.: Институт русской цивилизации, 2008.
3. Самарин Ю.Ф. Православие и народность. М.: Институт русской цивилизации, 2008.