Ecology of femininity

G.A. Gizatullina

It is considered philosophic issues of feminism in the context of three directions. The metaphysics is defined by femininity and biology of women, and their historical role in the development and formation of the society, especially its fundamental activity. Due to the fact that the position of women in society was transformed, it needs to change the attitude towards women. But as a society based on a patriarchal culture that does not want to change anything, the women begin to adjust its nature that can be fraught with dangerous consequences

Keywords: feminism, femininity, individuality, self-identification, intuition
