Specifics of Russian philosophy as special cultural formation in the history of Russia

M.A. Gubanova, D.A. Ermakov, A.A. Shmatko

It is considered the issue of the specificity of the cultural forming as the Russian philosophy. The number of arguments "for" the existence of Russian philosophy is balanced with arguments "against", and it is possible to refrain from a final answer in the spirit of the paradoxical and antinomic style philosophizing of the most Russian philosophy. However, Russian philosophy as an intellectual shaping acquires a pronounced national character due to its procedural valuable sovereignty and cultural identity.

Keywords: Russian philosophy, cultural formation, national peculiarities of philosophy, way of thinking, anthropocentrism, fiction
